

Author Bio

Rev. Jonathan Srock is an ordained minister with the Assemblies of God since 2010. He received two Bachelor's degrees in Biblical Languages and Pastoral Ministries, as well as a Masters of Divinity from Assemblies of God Theological Seminary. Jonathan was privileged to be the Lead Pastor of New Life Assembly in Shillington, PA for five years before suffering sudden paralysis in 2013. Jonathan has been a Christian since 1988.

Rev. Jonathan is part of the PennDel Ministry Network. He is a quadriplegic and lives in Central PA with his parents. He enjoys preaching in local churches, writing books, blogging, and answering questions about God and the Bible.

His passion is to imprint the character of Christ through teaching and preaching God's Word. Losing control of his body has not dissuaded him from teaching and preaching. He loves to preach in churches that invite him to share biblical preaching and teaching. Jonathan spends his days blogging at JonathanSrock.com, writing books and devotionals, and preparing sermons and sharing Bible studies.

The other great love of his life is creative writing. Jonathan enjoys writing articles about God and the Bible, and any other subject he researches in Christianity. He also writes nonfiction books on various Christian subjects. His favorite writing challenges include short stories and fiction works in science fiction and retelling Bible stories in a fresh way. He also enjoys reading, watching sports, and geeking out over computers in his "spare" time.
